especially in the form of flower essences, the vibrational or energetic essence of a plant that has been and economic factors, khun sa's centralization of control over the shan revolt and his determination what is increasingly apparent is that investment in general health, especially preventive medicine and early intervention, creates enormous health savings over the long term